DR. HUNTER'S MEDICAL MANUAL!

Being an original and complete

MAN AND WOMAN.

Their Physiology, Functions and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with never failing Remedies for the cure of all diseases, and the prevention of private and delicate camera, incident to the violation of the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

THE Author of the above

work is a graduate of one of the first medical schools in the United States, and has been a member of a number of the study and treatment of Syphilis and kindred disorders as a specialty.

He has become personally acquainted with the most reliable information in regard to the same, and is able to compress into a volume of the most valuable and complete medical science on this important subject; as the result of the experience of thousands of patients, and of his own highly successful practice in the treatment of secret diseases in many thousands of cases in the city of Philadelphia.

The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and is still literally unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend the sphere of his professional services, and to the community at large, through the medium of his "Medical Manual and Hand-Book for the Afflicted."

It is a volume that should be in the hand of every family, and of every person who is desirous of securing the most reliable and complete information in regard to the most important and delicate of all diseases, and of the means of their prevention and cure.

It is a volume that has received the unqualified recommendation of the first physicians in the land, while many clergymen, fathers, mothers, philanthropists and humanitarians, have most freely extended its circulation in all quarters where its powerful teachings would be likely to be instrumental in the moral purification and physical healing of multitudes of our people, among the young, the old and the infirm, and otherwise the pride and flower of the nation.

The author argues particularly, most strongly, against every species of self-indulgence, and warns parents and guardians, in searching terms, to guard the young of both sexes from the terrible consequences consequent of their ignorance of physiology and sexual diseases, and of the means of their prevention and cure.

Whether exhibited by procacious dissipation, or arising from the vicious and corrupting examples of their school-mates or otherwise. To those who have been already ensnared, he points out the only safe and reliable means of recovery, and shows how they may secure a return of sound health, and a regeneration of the soul from its terrible pollution.

It is well known that thousands of victims are annually sacrificed at the shrine of Quackery—especially those suffering from Venereal or Syphilitic diseases—Stricture, Seminal Weakness, Nervous Debility, and the numerous maladies which spring directly or less remotely from the influence of carnal passions and secret violations of Nature.

In view of these facts, and when it is also considered that about 100,000 persons are annually in the United States of Consumption—a large majority being victims of the voluptuous indiscretion of their progenitors, agreeably to the Scriptural enunciation, "that the sins of the parents are visited upon the children, even to the third and fourth generation." The author, imbued with sentiments of enlarged philanthropy, will spare no pains or effort to restore the victims of this disease to the healthy and useful condition of his Medical Manual.

One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1.00, by mail.

Choice Poetry.

THE DEAD.

BY HENRY ALFORD.

The dead alone are great!
While the heavenly palaces abide on earth,
The soil is one of dewless death;
When they die, a morning shower
Comes down and makes their memories flower
With odors sweet though late.

The dead alone are fair!
While they are with us, strange lives play
Before our eyes and chase away
God's light; but lo! when pale and die,
And swell the stores of memory,
There is no envy there.

The dead alone are dear!
Inquest among the corpses was held Yesterday at Bellevue Hospital, by Coroner Hills, and a verdict rendered: "That the unknown deceased came to his death by being run over on the Hudson River Railroad at Tarrytown. It was then interred in Potter's Field."

The dead alone are best!
While they are here clouds mar the day,
And bitter snow-falls nip their May;
But when their tempest-time is done,
The light and heat of Heaven's own sun
Broods on their land of rest.

HOPE.

Fellow citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives :

interference, foreign and domestic, that the minds of many, otherwise good citizens, have been so inflamed into the passionate condemnation of the domestic institutions of the Southern States, as to length to pass insensitively to almost equally passionate hostility towards the Government of the United States, and finally to fall into temporary fellowship with the avowed and active enemies of the Constitution. Ardently attached to liberty in the abstract, they do not stop to consider practically how the objects they would attain can be accomplished, nor to reflect that, even if the evil were as great as they deem it, they have no remedy to apply, and that they are engaged in an aggravated intemperance and unconstitutional action. A question, which is one of the most difficult of all the problems of social institution, political economy and statesmanship, they treat with unreasoning intemperance of thought and language. Extremes begot extremes. Violence at first from the North finds its inevitable consequence in violence from the spirit of angry defiance at the South. Thus in the progress of events we had reached that consummation, which the voice of the people

Still, when the nominal restriction of this name to the most letter in law was in turn repealed by the last Congress, in clause 1 of the act organizing the Territories of Kansas and Nebraska, that repeal was made the occasion of a wide-spread and dangerous agitation.

It was alleged that the original enactment being a compact of perpetual moral obligation, its repeal constituted an odious breach of faith.

An act of Congress, it was further pleaded, more especially if it be constitutional and valid in the judgment of those public functionaries whose duty it is to pronounce on that point, is undoubtedly binding on the conscience of each good citizen of the Republic. But it is not necessary to assert that the enactment in question was unconstitutional and entitled to the respect of a solemn compact? No distinct contending powers of the government, no separate sections of the Union treating as such, entered into treaty stipulations on the subject. It was a mere clause of Congress, and like any other controverted matter, its repeal was its own shape and measure, passed by compromise of the various opinions or sentiments of the members of Congress. But if it had moral authority over country was urged to demand its restoration; and that project also died almost with its birth. Then followed the cry of alarm from the North against imputed Southern encroachments; which cry sprang in reality from the spirit of revolutionary attack on the domestic institutions of the South, and after a trouble of a few months, has been rebuked by the voice of a patriotic people.

Of this last agitation, one lamentable feature was, that it was carried on at the immediate expense of the peace and happiness of the people of the Territory of Kansas. That was made the battle-field, not so much of opposing factions or interests, but of the two of the same people, the whole people of the States. Revolutionary disorder in Kansas had its origin in projects of intervention, deliberately arranged by certain members of the Congress, which enacted a law for the organization of the Territory. And when propagandist colonization of Kansas had thus been undertaken in one name of the Union, for the sake of its restoration in another name, the policy, there ensued, as a matter of course, counter action with opposite views, in other sections of the Union.

It demonstrates that in a country like ours, where the right of self-constitution exists in the complete form, the attempt to remedy wrongs by legislation by resort to revolution, is total out of place; inasmuch as existing legal institutions afford more prompt and efficacious means for the redress of wrongs.

I confidently trust that now, when the peaceful condition of Kansas affords opportunity for reflection and when legislation is either the legislative remedy or the only remedy, or Congress, will see that no act shall remain on its statute-book violative of the provisions of the Constitution, or subversive of the great objects for which that was ordained and established, and will take all other necessary steps to assure to its inhabitants the enjoyment, without obstruction or abridgement of any of their natural rights, and the immunities of citizens of the United States, contemplated by the organic law of the Territory.

Full information in relation to recent events in this Territory will be found in the documents communicated herewith from the Departments of State and War.

I refer to the report of the Secretary of the Treasury for particular information con-

I concur in the views expressed by the Secretary of the Department in favor of a still further increase of our naval force.

On the 15th the Secretary of the Interior presents facts and views in relation to Indian affairs over which the supervision of his department extends, of much interest and importance.

The aggregate sales of the public lands, during the last fiscal year, amount to nine million two hundred and twenty-seven thousand eight hundred and thirty-one acres; for which has been received the sum of $1,000,000.00, and there are now on hand one hundred and eighty-four hundred and forty-seven acres. During the same period there have been located, with military spirit and law, warrants, and for other purposes, thirty million one hundred thousand two hundred and thirty acres, thus making a total aggregate of this class of lands of one hundred and eighty-four thousand one hundred and eighty-four acres. On the 30th of September last, surveys had been made of sixteen million eight hundred and seventy-three thousand six hundred and ninety-nine acres, a large proportion of which is ready for market.

No suggestion in this report in regard to the conflictive and progressive extension of consideration of all maritime nations, two principles for the security of neutral commerce one, that the neutral flag should cover enemies' goods and contraband articles, and the other, that the neutral flag should protect property on board merchant vessels of belligerents should be exempt from capture at sea, with the exception of contraband of war articles. These were not presented as new principles, but as the principles which had been the basis of international laws having been generally accepted by neutral, though not always admitted by belligerent nations. The two principles were, in fact, well as general neutral powers, promulgated in these propositions; and the two of the principal belligerents, Great Britain and France, having consented to observe them for the present occasion, a favorable opportunity seemed to be presented for obtaining a general recognition of them both in Europe and America.

But Great Britain and France, in coming to this agreement with the United States, while forbearing to reject, did not affirmatively act upon overtures of the United States.

While the question was in this position, representatives of Russia, France Great Britain, Austria, Prussia, Sardinia, and Turkey, assembled at Paris, took into consideration the subject of maritime rights, and put forth a declaration pose was resisted by this government, as being contrary to existing treaty stipulation with the United States, and to rights conferred by charter upon the Panama Company, and was accordingly relinquished at that time. It was admitted that our vessels were entitled to exemption from tonnage duty in the free ports of Panama and Aspinwall. But the purpose has recently revived, on the part of New Granada, the enactment of a law to subject vessels coming in port to the tonnage duty of forty per cent, and to weigh the law has not been in force, yet the right to enforce it still exists, and may, at any time, be acted on by the government of that Republic.

The Congress of New Granada has also enacted a law, during the last year, which provides that all goods imported from the United States of more than three dollars on every pound of mail matter transported across the Isthmus. The sum thus required to be paid on the mail of the United States would be near two millions of dollars annually, in addition to the two millions payable by contract objection to this exacted duty was the exorbitant nature of the amount, it was the exorbitant nature of the amount, it was submitted that the United States.

The import trade of New Granada would obviously be destroyed by such a law.

For instruction in Business Arithmetic only, as per agreement.

The Design of the Institution is to afford preparatory facilities for requiring in an expeditious manner a thorough knowledge of Commercial Science and Art, and to employ the students in the Counting Room and Business practice generally.
The Book-keeping Department is under the personal supervision of the most accomplished Accountants and Teachers, and it is believed that no Mercantile College in the United States possesses superior advantages for imparting a thorough and practical knowledge of Commercial Science.
The College Course will embrace, in the most approved and practical form of keeping books by Double Entry in the various departments of Trade and Commerce, including General Wholesale and Retail Mercantile Exchange, Commission, Manufacturing, Railroad, Banking, Printing, Mining, Shipping, Steamboating, Individual Partnership and Company business. All manuscripts from which the students copy, are in a bold, rapid business hand, which will serve as a great auxiliary in acquiring to him an excellent style of writing.
The Lectures will be delivered upon the Science of Accounts, Commercial Law, Political Economy, Commercial Calculations, Banking, Mercantile Science, Commercial Ethics, Railroading, Business Correspondence, Mining, Commerce, Commercial Geography, &c.
Penmanship, Practical and Ornamental, will be taught in the most effectual manner by gentlemen of the highest attainments, as systematic and rapid 100 men, who were awarded First Prizes at the State Fairs of New York, Ohio and Michigan, in previous years. And we pledge ourselves to impart to
